

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset, I offer my sincere and profound gratitude to my guide Dr. Swarna Prabha Chainary, Professor, Department of Bodo, Gauhati University, Guwahati, for her learned guidance and encouragement through out my research work. Without her help this research work would not have complete. I will be always indebted for her constant motivation.

I also extend my sincere gratitude to Dr. Bhupen Narzaree, Prof. and Head, Department of Bodo, Gauhati University, Guwahati for his co-operative attitude towards my research work.

I am especially very much indebted and thankful to Mr Ramesh Ch. Suba of Satali, Alipur Duar, North Bengal for his constant help during my field study as well as extend my heartiest thanks to my other informants.

My special thanks go to Dr. Phukan Ch. Basumatary, Associate Professor, Department of Bodo, Bodoland University, for his valuable inspiration and co-operation during field work.

I am also extremely thankful to Dr. Guddu Prasad Basumatary and Mr. Dhanarajan Lal for their co-operation during the field work.

It is my privilege to thank my parents and wife Mrs Jonali Owary for their constant encouragement during my research work.

At last, I express my deep and sincere gratitude to my well wishers, colleagues and to the people who assisted in the completion of my research work.
